

Network of Assets

Caltex maintains a privileged infrastructure base that is hard to replicate and unparalleled in the domestic market.

From the largest finished product import terminals in both Australia and New Zealand, a refinery at Lytton in Queensland, 94 bulk fuel storage and distribution hubs and over 300 kilometres of fuel pipelines, to a national network of approximately 800 company-controlled retail stores serving over three million customers each week, our national footprint is extensive. We are using our experience, skills and the knowledge of our people to grow into international markets.
